CITY COUNCIL BEGINS SEWER LEGISLATION

Much Other Business Done by Group in Weekly Meeting
To Erect Air Marker

An ordinance declaring it necessary to improve parts of Pickaway-st by constructing sanitary sewers from Pleasant-st to 100 feet south of the Northridge-rd at an approximate cost of $4,500 was passed by city council in regular session Wednesday under a suspension of rules.

This ordinance is the first step in the project to provide a sewer for the new Circleville City hospital now under construction. With the building expected to be finished about Feb. 1, it is necessary that work be hurried to have a sewer for the use of the hospital ready at that time.

It is yet necessary that the council pass an ordinance to proceed with the work and after that to pass an additional ordinance to issue bonds. Following this, it is necessary to advertise the bond sale.

Service Director Lewis Miller reported to the council that plans, specifications and estimates had been completed for the construction of the sewer.

An ordinance granting the Norfolk and Western railway company permission to install and maintain an automatic flash light system of signals at the S. Scioto-rd crossing was also passed under suspension of rules.

At the present time there is just a bell at this crossing which with the heavy amount of traffic on the road makes the crossing dangerous. Work on the installation of the flasher system will get under way at once.

Circleville's marking for aeronautical purposes as required in a city this size is very much below the standard according to a report given the city council at their meeting Wednesday.

Circleville, according to the state law, should have four air markers. There is but one here now, that on the R. L. Bremer garage in N. Court-st, and according to state officials that is too small. The city is required to pay a sum not exceeding $25 annually for the painting of signs, and members of the local aeronautical club were informed that this would be done.

NEED 4 MARKERS
One marker will probably be painted on the Circleville Lumber Co., a second on N. Court-st near the Hargus Creek, and a third on the W. Mound-st pavement. It is necessary that the fourth be painted which will be somewhere in the south end of town.

A certificate from the United States Veterans hospital submitted to council by Ethridge Justice to the effect that while he was a member of the local police force, he was ordered to the hospital, and was there for 15 days and was submitted to the Solicitor and the committee on claims.

He was allowed full pay for five of these days when he should have been paid for all 15, he says. He is now asking that council pay him for the additional 10 days which he did not receive pay for.

The petition of Mrs. Evan W. Reichelderfer and others, submitted to the council at their last meeting that the city take over the sanitary sewer between Union and Mill-sts. was granted.

This sanitary sewer is one of the last privately built sewers that the city has not taken under its own control.

A communication from Allyn Greeno, asking that his salary as custodian of the city building and desk clerk be increased from $50 a month was referred to the finance committee after being read.

Council received an answer from the Chesapeake and Hocking railroad that the company install lights in the underneath portion of the overhead crossing at Main and Mound-sts.

SURVIVORS OF SHIP RESCUED

Eleven Sailors Drown When
British Ship Hits Reef
Near Honolulu

TUTUILA, Samoa, Dec. 5.—All of the survivors of the wrecked British steamer Norwich City have been rescued, according to a radio message received here today from the steamer Trongate, one of the three vessels that were engaged in taking the crew from Gardner Island.

Eleven of the crew of 34 were drowned when the ship struck a reef off the island on Nov. 30. The vessel is reported to be a total loss.

The rescue crews surmounted the greatest difficulties in taking the survivors from the island. Before they were finally saved, the Trongate appealed to the Governor of American Samoa, asking that a cruiser be sent with sea-planes, in order that a landing might be made in the lagoon, which they reported swarming with sharks.

Agents of the British steamer Norwich City, which was wrecked on the reef off Gardner Island, received a radio message from the steamer Lavington Court, one of the rescue ships, today, giving the names of those drowned when the ship crashed.

They are: Shorne and Scott, engineers; Jones, steward; Somers and Hamann, carpenters; and six Arab firemen.

SOVIET PRESS PRAISES TALK OF LITVINOFF

Says Stimson Note Carried
Hidden Purpose—Claims
China Violated Pact

By EDWARD L. DEUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Dec. 5.—The Soviet Press continued its staunch support of acting commissar of foreign affairs Litvinoff today for what it termed his patriotic and heroic stand against "meddling" by foreign powers, particularly the United States, in the Manchurian situation.

It hailed his two hour speech before the Central executive committee of the Communist party as a straightforward, clean-cut presentation of the Soviet government's stand in relation to the Kellogg Pact.

Litvinoff's declaration that the "demarches of the foreign powers cannot frighten us" was hailed especially as striking keynote of the Soviet viewpoint regarding "reminders" from foreign powers that the Kellogg Pact should be remembered in the Sin-Russ situation.

Litvinoff, while not actually stating that the intentions of foreign powers in sending "reminders" of the Kellogg Pact were guided by a desire to interfere just when negotiations between Soviet and Mukden delegates were nearing a favorable conclusion, intimated as much while asserting such interference would in no way alter Soviet policy.

"The Chinese and the Russian people are determined to live peacefully together," he said. "If foreign powers interfere, the Soviet is depending upon the sympathy of the workers, the peasants and the Red army in forcing acceptance of the three conditions of peace presented to China."

Touching upon the sore point of the Soviet government, the United States' failure to recognize it, Litvinoff stated that although the business relations between the Soviet and the United States were developing favorably, "Washington still considers us too insignificant to recognize diplomatically."

"The reception accorded the airplane land of the Soviets shows a growing sympathy toward Russia in the United States, despite Washington coolness," he added.

He charged that Secretary Stimson's "reminder" had a hidden purpose behind it—the internationalization of the Chinese eastern railroad.

"American capital long desired to grab control of the C. E. R. if we tear off the pacificist husk enclosing the note of Secretary Stimson, we discover the note's hidden purpose to internationalize the railroad in order to eliminate Soviet participation for the benefit of American and French imperialists."

He reiterated that China, not the Soviets, violated the Kellogg Pact.

"The big powers whose troops parade their colonies without violating the Kellogg Pact, cannot intimidate the Soviets, in the guise of peace, to believe that the Soviets violated the pact during the Sino-Russ conflict, which we considered would be happily settled."

"China violated the Kellogg Pact. As soon as the Soviets launched decisive military action, the big powers decided to interfere."

"The Soviets, unlike Great Britain and France, made no reservations to the Kellogg Pact, allowing unhampered action in certain portions of the globe."

"Nevertheless, the Soviets cannot tolerate interference in the Chinese Eastern railway dispute."

SENATE PREPARES TO BAR VARE BECAUSE OF FRAUD

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Governor of Pennsylvania can prepare to appoint a new junior Senator for the Keystone state.

This became apparent today as the senate prepared to deny a seat to Senator-elect William S. Vare (R) of Pa., while at the same time dismissing the contest filed against him by William B. Wilson, a Democrat who served as secretary of labor in Woodrow Wilson's wartime cabinet. Just as Vare's fate was decided nearly three years ago by the Reed snuff fund committee, so has Wilson's fate been determined by the Senate elections committee.

The elections committee by unanimous vote declared that Wilson had not proven his contest against Vare for the seat which the latter won by an official majority of 20,000 in Pennsylvania's 1926 senatorial election. A majority of the committee further decided that Vare was legally elected but a minority decreed that the election was voided by fraud and corruption, and that the Senate should declare a vacancy. This the senate was ready to do, but rather because of the $800,000 spent by Vare's organization in his primary campaign of the same year.

A number of Republican leaders, led by Senators Reed, of Pa., Shortridge, of Cal., Fess, of Ohio, and Waterman, of Col., were fighting an uphill battle against a sentiment already crystallized against Vare. They hoped to get the Philadelphia seated upon the constitutional argument that he was officially elected and officially credited by his state. The argument seemed doomed to rejection.

The fight against Vare was led by Senator Norris (R) of Neb., the insurgent leader, and Senators Caraway, of Ark., and Bratton, of N. M., from the Democratic side of the chamber. They contended the expenditure of $800,000 in Vare's primary and the evidence of fraudulent voting in Philadelphia in the general election, nullified his official victory. They contended Vare should be barred at the door, where he figuratively has stood every since March 1927.

The personal appearance of Vare to plead his own cause on the floor of the Senate had the apparent effect on Senators. They listened to him gravely as he denied fraud and corruption and defended his expenditures.

The debate from now on will involve both the Vare and Wilson cases, since the Senate elections committee has reported. Senator Shortridge (R) of Cal., its chairman, announced he would ask the Senate to pass upon the Wilson case first, before voting a final fate for Vare.

This probably will be done, since Norris agreed to it several days ago. There will be plenty of debate, however, before the final vote is reached and the opinion prevailed that there would be a real vacancy in Pennsylvania's senatorial representation by the middle of next week.

tions committee has reported. Senator Shortridge (R) of Cal., its chairman, announced he would ask the Senate to pass upon the Wilson case first, before voting a final fate for Vare.

U. S. STEAMER SAVES CREW OF SCHOONER

Newfoundland Sailors on Derelict Ship Rescued Just Before Boat Sinks

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—News of another epic rescue of the sea was flashed through the ether from the mid-Atlantic today.

The United States liner Republic, inward bound from Europe, picked up the captain and crew of ten of the Newfoundland schooner Gander Deal, swept out to sea in the violent gale which carried more than half a dozen sailing vessels to destruction early this week.

The Gander Deal apparently was one of the Newfoundland fishing fleet which was caught in the storm soon after setting out from St. John's Newfoundland, on Monday. Fifteen of these schooners were swept out to sea. A few of them fought their way back to port, and the crews of others were rescued by boats put out from the Newfoundland shore.

From the Laconic message wirelessly by Captain A. M. Moore of the Republic, was pieced out a story of sea luck that has rarely had a parallel.

The Gander Deal, apparently unequipped with wireless and reduced to derelict state by the lashing of the gale, was drifting uncontrolled in latitude 49 North, longitude 40.00 West, approximately 1,536 miles east of Ambrose lightship, when she was sighted by the Republic.

The rescue was effected just as dawn was breaking, 5:30 a. m., this morning, ship's time. Whether lights strung up on the schooner's mast were sighted from the Republic, or whether the tiny cockleshell of the sailing vessel was seen from the bridge of the passenger liner, is not yet known.

But apparently in the nick of time, the grateful captain and his exhausted crew of ten were taken aboard the liner. The fact that Captain Moore reported the schooner a derelict shows how close was the fishermen's escape.

For had not the vessel been near to plunging to the bottom, Captain Moore would not have abandoned her. It is extremely likely that she sank soon after the Republic steamed away with the eleven men snatched from a watery grave.

GEO. MC MANUS IS DISMISSED

Judge Says Evidence in Rothstein Murder Case Can't Convict Gambler

CRIMINAL COURT ROOM, Dec. 5.—George A. McManus walked out of the court here today a free man, when Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., presiding, dismissed the indictment against McManus charging him with the murder of Arnold Rothstein because of "lack of evidence."

Judge Nott directed the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty." McManus, his dark face lighted with a smile, stood up and faced the jury as the jurors arose in the jury box and rendered their verdict.

The judge said the state had failed to produce evidence linking McManus with the crime and that he, therefore, took the responsibility of the verdict from the hands of the jury.

C. C. Directors Lay Plans For Christmas Lights

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce met Thursday at Hanley's Tea Room to discuss several propositions for lighting the streets during the Christmas holidays, and decided to again have the lighted Christmas trees as used last year.

Mack Parrett Jr., secretary of the Chamber, will solicit the merchants for lighting on these trees so that the Ohio Utilities can begin to put up the wire at once. The merchants are to purchase their trees on the open market as they did last year.

In addition to this the corner of Court-and-Main-sts will be decorated by the local Utilities companies and the current for lighting furnished free by the Ohio Utilities Co. This decoration and lighting effect will add materially to the Christmas atmosphere of the business section, the directors felt.

The Directors also voted to sponsor a contest for the best decorated and lighted residence in Circleville for Christmas. This contest will be open to every resident in Circleville and prizes will be offered.

Full particulars for this contest will be published as soon as the committee composed of Karl Herrmann, John Hummel and Earl Lutz complete their plans.

FLEET OF 14 PLANES ROAR AFTER EAGLE

Veteran Mail Pilot is Thought To Be Lost In Wilds Of Western Pennsylvania

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, veteran leader of many an aerial searching squadron, arrived at the Cleveland airport at 8:30 a. m. today to take command of a fleet of 15 planes in a search for an old "Buddy," Thomas P. Nelson, air mail pilot who has been missing since early Monday morning.

Defying darkness and snowstorms, the Lone Eagle flew here from New York early today in an open cockpit Curtiss-Falcon biplane. His route lay over the same snow-swept path, which, it is believed, has claimed the life of Nelson.

Swinging his plane into line along with the 15 crafts composing the searching squadron, Lindbergh, wrapped in a fur-lined flying outfit, heavy boots and a helmet, leaped out of his plane and hurriedly conferred with local airport officials.

Immediately afterward, he returned to his plane, signalled to the 15 pilots and roared his craft across the field into the air, one by one the other members of the searching fleet followed.

Led by the Lone Eagle, the squadron—the greatest ever assembled in this territory in search for a missing pilot—winged their way eastward over the snow-swept stretches which are believed to hold the fate of Nelson.

Each of the flyers was given a five-mile square portion of territory between here and Bellefonte, Pa., to scour. One of the points that will be thoroughly searched, officials at the Cleveland airport said before the start, this morning, will be the vicinity of Stoneboro, Pa., where it was reported a plane was heard to crash Monday.

Part of the searching squadron are heading directly for Andover, O., to give that territory a second combing for traces of the missing pilot. This district is sparsely settled and is covered with nearly 2,000 acres of heavy, almost impenetrable timberland.

Phil Love of St. Louis, another old flying "Buddy" of the missing aviator, was among the pilots of the searching squadron.

Besides the fleet of 15, it was anticipated that several other planes might arrive from Chicago later in the day to join in the hunt.

Many of the planes which set out this morning are equipped with radios. They will keep in touch with ground stations as the search progresses.

Although a $500 reward has been offered to the person who locates Nelson, it was not hoped to spur the hunt. All of the pilots were grimly determined to find their missing "Buddy."

CITY COUNCIL BEGINS SEWER LEGISLATION

To Erect Air Marker

An ordinance declaring it necessary to improve parts of Pickaway-st by constructing sanitary sewers from Pleasant-st to 100 feet south of the Northridge-rd at an approximate cost of $4,500 was passed by city council in regular session Wednesday under a suspension of rules.

This ordinance is the first step in the project to provide a sewer for the new Circleville City hospital now under construction. With the building expected to be finished about Feb. 1, it is necessary that work be hurried to have a sewer for the use of the hospital ready at that time.

It is yet necessary that the council pass an ordinance to proceed with the work and after that to pass an additional ordinance to issue bonds. Following this, it is necessary to advertise the bond sale.

Service Director Lewis Miller reported to the council that plans, specifications and estimates had been completed for the construction of the sewer.

An ordinance granting the Norfolk and Western railway company permission to install and maintain an automatic flash light system of signals at the S. Scioto-st crossing was also passed under suspension of rules.

At the present time there is just a bell at this crossing which with the heavy amount of traffic on the road makes the crossing dangerous. Work on the installation of the flasher system will get under way at once.

Circleville's marking for aeronautical purposes as required in a city this size is very much below the standard according to a report given the city council at their meeting Wednesday.

Circleville, according to the state law, should have four air markers. There is but one here now, that on the R. L. Brehmer garage in N. Court-st, and according to state officials that is too small. The city is required to pay a sum not exceeding $25 annually for the painting of signs, and members of the local aeronautical club were informed that this would be done.

NEED 4 MARKERS
One marker will probably be painted on the Circleville Lumber Co., a second on N. Court-st near the Hargus Creek, and a third on the W. Mound-st pavement. It is necessary that the fourth be painted which will be somewhere in the south end of town.

A certificate from the United States Veterans hospital submitted to council by Eltheridge Justice to the effect that while he was a member of the local police force, he was ordered to the hospital, and was there for 15 days and was submitted to the Solicitor and the committee on claims. He was allowed full pay for five of these days when he should have been paid for all 15, he says. He is now asking that council pay him for the additional 10 days which he did not receive pay for.

The petition of Mrs. Evan W. Reichelderfer and others, submitted to the council at their last meeting that the city take over the sanitary sewer between Union and Mill-sts, was granted.

This sanitary sewer is one of the last privately built sewers that the city has not taken under its own control.

A communication from Allyn Greeno, asking that his salary as custodian of the city building and desk clerk be increased from $50 a month was referred to the finance committee after being read.

Council received an answer from the Chesapeake and Hocking railroad that the company install lights in the underneath portion of the overhead crossing at Main and Mound-sts.

SOVIET PRESS PRAISES TALK OF LITVINOFF

Says Stimson Note Carried

MOSCOW, Dec. 5—The Soviet Press continued its staunch support of acting commissar of foreign affairs Litvinoff today for what it termed his patriotic and heroic stand against "meddling" by foreign powers, particularly the United States, in the Manchurian situation.

It hailed his two hour speech before the Central executive committee of the Communist party as a straightforward, clean-cut presentation of the Soviet government's stand in relation to the Kellogg Pact.

Litvinoff's declaration that the "demarches of the foreign powers cannot frighten us" was hailed especially as striking keynote of the Soviet viewpoint regarding "reminders" from foreign powers that the Kellogg Pact should be remembered in the Sin-Russ situation.

"The Chinese and the Russian people are determined to live peacefully together," he said. "If foreign powers interfere, the Soviet is depending upon the sympathy of the workers, the peasants and the Red army in forcing acceptance if the three conditions of peace presented to China."

Touching upon the sore point of the Soviet government, the United States' failure to recognize it, Litvinoff stated that although business relations between the Soviet and the United States were developing favorably "Washington still considers us too insignificant to recognize diplomatically."

"The reception accorded the airplane land of the Soviets shows a growing sympathy toward Russia in the United States, despite Washington coolness," he added.

He charged that Secretary Stimson's "reminder" had a hidden purpose behind it—the internationalization of the Chinese eastern railroad.

"American capital long desired to grab control of the C. E. SENATE PREPARES TO BAR VARE BECAUSE OF FRAUD

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Governor of Pennsylvania can prepare to appoint a new junior Senator for the Keystone state.

This became apparent today as the senate prepared to deny a seat to Senator-elect William S. Vare (R) of Pa., while at the same time dismissing the contest filed against him by William B. Wilson, a Democrat who served as secretary of labor in Woodrow Wilson's wartime cabinet. Just as Vare's fate was decided nearly three years ago by the Reed smush fund committee, so has Wilson's fate been determined by the Senate elections committee.

The elections committee by unanimous vote declared that Wilson had not proven his contest against Vare for the seat which the latter won by an official majority of 20,000 in Pennsylvania's 1926 senatorial election. A majority of the committee further decided that Vare was legally elected but a minority decreed that the election was voided by fraud and corruption, and that the Senate should declare a vacancy. This the senate was ready to do, but rather because of the $800,000 spent by Vare's organization in his primary campaign of the same year.

A number of Republican leaders, led by Senators Reed, of Pa., Shortridge, of Cal., Fess, of Ohio, and Waterman, of Col., were fighting an uphill battle against a sentiment already crystallized against Vare. They hoped to get the Philadelphia seated upon the constitutional argument that he was officially elected and officially credited by his state. The argument seemed doomed to rejection.

The fight against Vare was led by Senator Norris (R) of Neb., the insurgent leader, and Senators Caraway, of Ark., and Bratton, of N. M., from the Democratic side of the chamber. They contended the expenditure of $800,000 in Vare's primary and the evidence of fraudulent voting in Philadelphia in the general election, nullified his official victory. They contended Vare should be barred at the door, where he figuratively has stood every since March, 1927.

The personal appearance of Vare to plead his own cause on the floor of the Senate had little apparent effect on Senators. They listened to him gravely as he denied fraud and corruption and defended his expenditures.

The debate from now on will involve both the Vare and Wilson cases, since the Senate elections committee has reported. Senator Shortridge (R) of Cal., its chairman, announced he would ask the Senate to pass upon the Wilson case first, before voting a final fate for Vare.

This probably will be done, since Norris agreed to it several days ago. There will be plenty of time for debate, however, before the final vote is reached and the opinion prevailed that there would be a real vacancy in Pennsylvania's senatorial representation by the middle of next week.

Although prisoners were questioned for several hours at the county jail Wednesday evening, no trace of Willie Bass, 28, wanted for the murder of Norman Spencer, 29, in a crap game at the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad camp early Tuesday has yet been found.

Pickaway-co authorities have searched every cranny and possible hiding place in this section of the state and have failed to disclose anything which may lead to the arrest of the fugitive.

U. S. STEAMER SAVES CREW OF SCHOONER

Newfoundland Sailors on Derelict Ship Rescued Just Before Boat Sinks

NEW YORK, Dec. 5—News of another epic rescue of the sea was flashed through the ether from the mid-Atlantic today.

The United States liner Republic, inward bound from Europe, picked up the captain and crew of ten of the Newfoundland schooner Gander Deal, swept out to sea in the violent gale which carried more than half a dozen sailing vessels to destruction early this week.

The Gander Deal apparently was one of the Newfoundland fishing fleet which was caught in the storm soon after setting out from St. John's Newfoundland, on Monday. Fifteen of these schooners were swept out to sea. A few of them fought their way back to port, and the crews of others were rescued by boats put out from the Newfoundland shore.

From the Laconic message wire-pressed by Captain A. M. Moore of the Republic, was pieced out a story of sea luck that has rarely had a parallel.

The Gander Deal, apparently unequipped with wireless and reduced to derelict state by the lashing of the gale, was drifting uncontrolled in latitude 49 North, longitude 40.00 West, approximately 1,536 miles east of Ambrose lightship, when she was sighted by the Republic.

The rescue was effected just as dawn was breaking, 5:30 a. m., this morning, ship's time. Whether lights strung up on the schooner's mast were sighted from the Republic, or whether the tiny cockleshell of the sailing vessel was seen from the bridge of the passenger liner, is not yet known.

But apparently in the nick of time, the grateful captain and his exhausted crew of ten were taken aboard the liner. The fact that Captain Moore reported the schooner a derelict shows how close was the fishermen's escape.

For had not the vessel been near plunging to the bottom Captain Moore would not have abandoned her. It is extremely likely that she sank soon after the Republic steamed away with the eleven men snatched from a watery grave.

GEO. MCMANUS IS DISMISSED

Judge Says Evidence in Rothstein Murder Case Can't Convict Gambler

CRIMINAL COURT ROOM, Dec. 5—George A. McManus walked out of the court here today a free man, when Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., presiding, dismissed the indictment against McManus charging him with the murder of Arnold Rothstein because of "lack of evidence."

Judge Nott directed the jury to return a verdict of "not guilty." McManus, his dark face lighted with a smile, stood up and faced the jury as the jurors arose in the jury box and rendered their verdict.

The judge said the state had failed to produce evidence linking McManus with the crime and that he, therefore, took the responsibility of the verdict from the hands of the jury.

C. C. Directors Lay Plans For Christmas Lights

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce met Thursday at Hanley's Tea Room to discuss several propositions for lighting the streets during the Christmas holidays, and decided to again have the lighted Christmas trees as used last year.

Mack Parrett Jr., secretary of the Chamber, will solicit the merchants for lighting on these trees so that the Ohio Utilities can begin to put up the wire at once. The merchants are to purchase their trees on the open market as they did last year.

In addition to this the corner of Court-and-Main-sts will be decorated by the local Utilities companies and the current for lighting furnished free by the Ohio Utilities Co. This decoration and lighting effect will add materially to the Christmas atmosphere of the business section, the directors felt.

The Directors also voted to sponsor a contest for the best decorated and lighted residence in Circleville for Christmas. This contest will be open to every resident in Circleville and prizes will be offered.

Full particulars for this contest will be published as soon as the committee composed of Karl Herrmann, John Hummel and Earl Lutz complete their plans.

FLEET OF 14 PLANES ROAR AFTER EAGLE

Veteran Mail Pilot is Thought To Be Lost In Wilds Of Western Pennsylvania

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, veteran leader of many an aerial searching squadron, arrived at the Cleveland airport at 8:30 a. m. today to take command of a fleet of 15 planes in a search for an old "Buddy," Thomas P. Nelson, air mail pilot who has been missing since early Monday morning.

Defying darkness and snowstorms, the Lone Eagle flew here from New York early today in an open cockpit Curtiss-Falcon biplane. His route lay over the same snow-swept path, which, it is believed, has claimed the life of Nelson.

Swinging his plane into line along with the 15 crafts composing the searching squadron, Lindbergh, wrapped in fur-lined flying outfit, heavy boots and a helmet, leaped out of his plane and hurriedly conferred with local airport officials.

Immediately afterward, he returned to his plane, signalled to the 15 pilots and roared his craft across the field into the air, one by one the other members of the searching fleet followed.

Led by the Lone Eagle, the squadron—the greatest ever assembled in this territory in search for a missing pilot—winged their way eastward over the snow-swept stretches which are believed to hold the fate of Nelson.

Each of the flyers was given a five-mile square portion of territory between here and Bellefonte, Pa., to scour. One of the points that will be thoroughly searched, officials at the Cleveland airport said before the start this morning, will be the vicinity of Stonestown, Pa., where it was reported a plane was heard to crash Monday.

Part of the searching squadron are heading directly for Andover, O., to give that territory a second combing for traces of the missing pilot. This district is sparsely settled and is covered with nearly 2,000 acres of heavy, almost impenetrable timberland.

Phil Love of St. Louis, another old flyer "Buddy" of the missing aviator, was among the pilots of the searching squadron.

Besides the fleet of 15, it was anticipated that several other planes might arrive from Chicago later in the day to join in the hunt.

Many of the planes which set out this morning are equipped with radios. They will keep in touch with ground stations as the search progresses.

Although a $500 reward has been offered to the person who locates Nelson, it was not needed to spur the hunt. All of the pilots were grimly determined to find their missing "Buddy."

LET'S GET A BULLETIN BOARD

By Robert Rooney

Can the students of C. H. S. realize how much better the rooms would look were they minus the hurriedly written, untidy notes on the boards? Were this eliminated what process would be used? The answer is simply—why not use the best?

One acknowledged asset to our schools is the bulletin board on the left side of the wall just above the entrance steps. Its only defect is that it is not large enough. Suppose there were to be a large bulletin board in each of our halls. How much would be gained? Our blackboards could be kept clean, our notices could be presented attractively, and a valuable addition to our school would be made.

Here is a plan of how it might be done: Arrange in the Principal's office a school fund box for these bulletin boards. Pupils could voluntarily contribute their pennies, nickels and dimes. If our organization so desires, each might donate an equal amount. Thus the students of C. H. S. would be raising through their own effort, something of use for themselves.

STUDENTS! NOTICE!

Bring your Eastman, Brownie, Ansco, or "what have you" to the rescue and capture some treasures. Pick up your camera and go "snootin" for good snaps of your classmates and teachers for the "Circle." Snap some good action pictures and hand them to your class annual reporters.

For the person who enters the second largest number of acceptable pictures there will be a $1.00 payment on a "Circle." For the best "snap" and second best "snap" there will be prizes of $1.00 and 50c payments on a "Circle," respectively. This contest is open to every one in the high school and eighth grade. The pictures will be printed in the "Circle."

Monday evening started the ball rolling for the basketball candidates of C. H. S. as this being the first practice of the season for new candidates, both the veterans and green hands were given a stiff work out. The Tiger team consisted of practicing short shots and signal practice. A stiff scrimmage completed the evening's labor. Freshmen are numerous on the court this season. This being their first workout, they are eager to learn anything that pertains to basketball. "Web" Adkins, former football star is a candidate for guard this season. "Bob" Rector is the chief manager of this squad.

Davis has been showing fine style in his short shots and defensive work. In scrimmages the first squad is known as "shirts" and the scrubs "no shirts." This way of telling one player from another, is determined by removal of shirts by the scrubs.

THE GREAT PENCIL MYSTERY

Our friend, Nancy, was all flustered. She had lost her pencil. "Harold Dresbach, did you see my green pencil?"

"No! Quit bothering me. Can't you see Junior and I are busy?"

"And how?" and then, "Junior Funk, did you see it?"

"Lettuce alone—No, I haven't seen your five-center. More likely Marvin Seymour has it."

"Well, I didn't ask, he didn't say, so I don't know."

"I had 57 varieties of pencils at the beginning of this week and now I haven't any."

But suddenly some one made a wise move and the opening of his book disclosed a green pencil.

"Dr. Strawser, you've got my pencil."

Dale looked up at Nancy and exclaimed, "Folled, by Heck."

"Hey there, that's my pencil, Dale."

"Well Nancy, I'm a nut if you haven't your pencil in your hand."

Thus shouted Bob Rooney as he blew in from nowhere.

You'd never have known what Nancy thought of Bob, unless you'd seen her.

Moral: Things are what you make them, unless somebody else makes them for you.

SALTCREEK SCHOOL

Vacation is over and in a surprisingly short time school is going again at a little stronger rate. It does one's bones good to see the fine response given to the teachers all of whom are doing fine work. Less than three weeks remain before Christmas and much can be accomplished in that time. It is advisable for parents to look at the grade cards of their children and give extra attention to the study time of those whose work is unsatisfactory or questionable. Often some encouragement at a critical time saves a child from failure and disappointment. Learning to live abundantly, agreeably and successfully is the child's task and the proper training of the child to accomplish that is the task of the teacher and parents. No effort should be spared to accomplish that purpose.

Mr. Bradley, our agriculture instructor, has presented the question of a club of Future Farmers among the boys. The requirements are somewhat exacting but it is within reach of every boy taking agriculture and is not only an honor which is worth something but the attainment indicates an ability and industry that point toward success. Opportunity is not a wagon passing by upon which you jump and ride to success with some one else furnishing to motive power. It must be your wagon, your motive power and the results of your effort before you are called to any worth while service.

Basket ball for the year has gone far enough in the experimental season to hazard a guess. Saltcreek boys will not win all the games. Neither will they lose them all. If the boys continue to improve the opposition will have to step lively. As for the girls let the scores tell, Washington-twp 9, Saltcreek 24; Gibsonville 2, Saltcreek 24. The girls are playing good basket ball.

Miss Buckley, our music instructor, is now training the lower grades for the grade opera to be given Dec. 19. You will want to see what can be accomplished with little tots by skilled training.

Next Tuesday an examination prepared by the state will be given to the seventh and eighth grades and high school. Another such examination will be given next April. The purpose is to bring about more uniformity over the state and allow schools to see how their work compares with that done by other schools. It is an incentive for schools to do good work. This examination will in no way affect the standing of pupils in their work.

S. as this being the first practice of the season for new candidates, both the veterans and green hands were given a stiff work out. The Tiger menu consisted of practicing short shots and signal practice. A stiff scrimmage completed the evening's labor. Freshmen are numerous on the court this season. This being their first workout, they are eager to learn anything that pertains to basketball. "Web" Adkins, former football star is a candidate for guard this season. "Bob" Rector is the chief manager of this squad.

Davis has been showing fine style in his short shots and defensive work. In scrimmages the first squad is known as "shirts" and the scrubs "no shirts." This way of telling one player from another, is determined by removal of shirts by the scrubs.

THE GREAT PENCIL MYSTERY

Our friend, Nancy, was all flustered. She had lost her pencil.

"Harold Dresbach, did you see my green pencil?"

"No! Quit bothering me. Can't you see Junior and I are busy?"

"And how!" and then, "Junior Funk, did you see it?"

"Lettuce alone—No, I haven't seen your five-center. More likely Marvin Seymour has it."

"Well, I didn't ask, he didn't say, so I don't know."

"I had 57 varieties of pencils at beginning of this week and now I haven't any."

But suddenly some one made a false move and the opening of his book disclosed a green pencil.

"Dale! Strawser, you've got my pencil!"

Dale looked up at Nancy and exclaimed, "Foiled, by Heck."

"Hey there, that's my pencil, Dale."

"Well Nancy, I'm a nut if you haven't your pencil in your hand."

Thus shouted Bob Rooney as he blew in from nowhere.

You'd never have known what Nancy thought of Bob, unless you'd seen her.

Moral: Things are what you make them, unless somebody else makes them for you.

NEWS FROM OTHER SCHOOLS

The Polaris—Columbus.

"Open Night" was held at North high school Wednesday evening, Nov. 13, in order to give the parents and patrons of North high an opportunity to see the school in operation.

Night football is an unequalled success. Any one of the 6,500 spectators at the North-Bexley fray will testify to that.

The first ever played at night in central Ohio, proved so thrilling that the fans went away fully convinced that the game played under the huge searchlights is better than in daytime.

At the first night game with Bexley, North high won with a score of 20-0.

McClain High Dragon—Greenfield.

Interior views and activities are being filmed by the Anderson Film Company.

Last year the Dads expressed the desire that the Mothers be included too, so this year both parents were invited.

On December 12 and 13, Mask and Gavel will give the students of Bradley and the public of Peoria a dramatic treat, when they present "Plots and Playwrights" by Edward Massey.

There will be a hundred and fifty in the cast. Eighty will be of the original company which Morris Gest brought from Freiburg, Germany, to play in the United States. In addition there will be a chorus of seventy people chosen from Miami and Western students and townspeople.

SALT CREEK SCHOOL

Vacation is over and in a surprisingly short time school is going again at a little stronger rate. It does one's bones good to see the fine response given to the teachers all of whom are doing fine work. Less than three weeks remain before Christmas and much can be accomplished in that time. It is advisable for parents to look at the grade cards of their children and give extra attention to the study time of those whose work is unsatisfactory or questionable. Often some encouragement at a critical time saves a child from failure and disappointment. Learning to live abundantly, agreeably and successfully is the child's task and the proper training of the child to accomplish that is the task of the teacher and parents. No effort should be spared to accomplish that purpose.

Mr. Bradley, our agriculture instructor, has presented the question of a club of Future Farmers among the boys. The requirements are somewhat exacting but it is within reach of every boy taking agriculture and is not only an honor which is worth something but the attainment indicates an ability and industry that point toward success. Opportunity is not a wagon passing by upon which you jump and ride to success with some one else furnishing to motive power. It must be your wagon, your motive power and the results of your effort before you are called to any worth while service.

Basket ball for the year has gone far enough in the experimental season to hazard a guess. Saltcreek boys will not win all the games. Neither will they lose them all. If the boys continue to improve the opposition will have to step lively. As for the girls let the scores tell, Washington-twp 9, Saltcreek 24; Gibsonville 2, Saltcreek 24. The girls are playing good basket ball.

Miss Buckley, our music instructor, is now training the lower grades for the grade opera to be given Dec. 19. You will want to see what can be accomplished with little tots by skilled training.

Next Tuesday an examination prepared by the state will be given to the seventh and eighth grades and high school. Another such examination will be given next April. The purpose is to bring about more uniformity over the state and allow schools to see how their work compares with that done by other schools. It is an incentive for schools to do good work. This examination will in no way affect the standing of pupils in their work.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

SAFEGUARDING PURITY OF FOODS

Time was in Ohio when it was a gamble to buy store food, declares O. J. Bailey, chief of the Foods and Dairies Division of the Department of Agriculture. It was said in those days that it was hard for a man to succeed in business and be strictly honest.

Our milk was skimmed and preserved with formaldehyde. Our extracts were artificially flavored and colored and called triple strength. Our pickles were colored with copper salts and preserved with salicylic acid. Our pure maple syrup was mostly cane with a little maple. Our spices were ground pepper shells with some pepper. Our catsup was coal-tar dyes, pumpkins and poor quality of tomatoes. Our jams, preserves and jellies were a mixture of gelatin, dyes, millet seed and artificial flavors, and so on through the whole list of foods sold over the counter.

In the meantime laws have been passed in nation and state, that have resulted in purer more wholesome food-stuffs than man has found in any other country on earth, declares Mr. Bailey. Law alone is not sufficient, however. Enforcement is a big factor and to Mr. Bailey's division, with its corps of inspectors who travel around over the state keeping tabs on law evasions, covering dairy operations, bottling works, canneries, ice cream plants, bakeries, narcotic handling and weights and measures falls the responsibilities of keeping Ohio's tables safe.

COW TEST REQUIREMENTS

A J DeFosset, U. S. Inspector in charge of Ohio, and Dr C. McCandless, state veterinarian, announce that they are ready to visit any county to explain what is necessary in order to make a county an accredited one. Producers cannot ship milk into Cincinnati and other large cities after Jan. 1, if not in accredited territory.

The expense of testing the cows is paid jointly by the federal government, state and county. It is understood that the testing can be started at once if it is desired by the owners of cows. To make the test it must be requested by 51 per cent of the owners of cows who must own at least 75 per cent of the cows in the county. Any cow found to have bovine tuberculosis will be killed. The cows will be appraised at their actual market value. The owner will be paid by the state and federal governments each paying one-third. Where tuberculosis cattle are found they are removed for slaughter and the premises cleaned and disinfected.

NATIONAL MARKETING AGENCY

A dispatch from Washington should be of interest to Ohio growers even though few make use of such an organization, in the opinion of Chief J. W. Waid of the State Bureau of Markets. The dispatch to which he calls attention says:

Formation of a national marketing agency for fruits and vegetables is to be undertaken by the Federal Farm Board, according to an announcement from headquarters here. It will take the form of a commodity corporation uniting fruit and vegetable co-operatives, it is stated. Foundation for the agency is being laid by means of surveys under the direction of Charles C. Teague, a member of the Board.

So far negotiations looking toward the establishment of a national fruit and vegetable commodity association have consisted only in discussions in person and through correspondence of Mr. Teague and Charles S. Wilson, both members of the Board, with those interested in growing and selling these commodities.

The Board will call a conference of representatives of fruit and vegetable growers for the consideration of such a marketing association as soon as Mr. Teague and

Mr. Wilson have obtained sufficient preliminary material to warrant such action, it is announced.

FAIR MANAGERS' MEETING
Jan. 16-17 have been selected as the dates for the meeting of the Ohio Fair Manager's convention to be held at the Deshler-Wallick hotel, Columbus. Wednesday's evening program will be devoted entirely to racing. Thursday's sessions will be devoted to group meetings.

THE BEST WAY

While it is not absolutely necessary that a hunter carry in his pocket a written permit for hunting from the land owner it is a good idea to have it ready to show the warden, along with the hunting license which must be produced when requested, according to law, says Conservation Commissioner J. W. Thompson.

No one under the age of 16 is allowed to hunt unless accompanied by parents or other adult person; the limit is five rabbits in one day and no Sunday hunting; the open season is from Nov. 15th to Jan. 1st. Sales are allowed during the open season.

CONSERVATION NOTES

WARNING ISSUE
The Board of Game Commissioners of Pennsylvania has sent an official communication to the Ohio Conservation Division, marked important. The letter says in part:

This office has been in receipt of numerous newspaper clippings which state in rather large headlines that hunters will be permitted to kill both bucks and does this year. This statement is seriously in error and should be corrected at once else it will cause no end of trouble for the sportsmen and the Game Commission.

Under the law this year only male deer having two or more points to the antler may be legally taken, the season extending from Dec. 1st to 15th, inclusive. We hope that you will stress the correct season in your newspapers as soon as possible.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Carl L. Van Voorhis, Assistant Commissioner, and J. W. Stuber of the educational bureau of the Conservation Division will attend the American Game Conference to be held in New York City, Dec. 2nd and 3rd, a great annual gathering of game officials and others in America who are concerned in the problems confronting conservationists of wild life.

A committee has been at work for months to formulate a national wild life policy which committee is expected to report at the next conference and to outline a plan on which all game administrative and management efforts may be based. The committee is made up of representatives from every part of the country, including, in its number scientists, game officials and sportsmen. The report of this committee will be subject to full discussion and such alteration and revision as the conference may decide upon. The American public is fully aroused to the importance of placing its wild life resources on a permanent and continuing basis and is seeking a definite plan or policy for this purpose.

The American Game Conference is recognized as the one great clearing house for all such problems. It is an institution established under the auspices of the American Game Protective Association, though the association does not seek to control its deliberations or its findings. It is a free and open forum for all who may desire to attend. The next conference will be the 16th of the series.

A PATRIOTIC DUTY

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in an address before a sportsmen's convention, placed conservation on a platform of patriotism. He declared: "The Conservation movement in the United States today, constitutes this country's demonstration of pure idealism—of unselfish patriotism. Those who adhere to it solely for the love of out-of-doors, who comprehend their duty only in terms of planting a tree, purifying a stream, protecting a bird's nest, or otherwise making the out-of-doors a little cleaner, a little more beautiful and a little more alive with the pulse of nature, have justification enough for their work and reward enough in their accomplishments."

On economic grounds alone we may call upon the self-interest of our people and justify all the time and the energy that is expended in a conservative movement.

DEER IN OHIO

Conservation Commissioner J. W. Thompson is enthusiastic in his conviction that Southern Ohio can be brought back to the ranks of deer hunting states. He points out that the extensive forest areas in Scioto and bordering counties are ideal natural habitat for deer and other game. He hopes that within a few years a short annual open season on bucks will be practical.

On a recent visit to Roosevelt Preserve Mr. Thompson reports that he saw twenty deer in the woods along the drives. The natural increase this season of deer in the preserve and surrounding forests is thought by conservation officials to have been larger than for several years. Illegal hunting has also been more strictly controlled, it is claimed.

SAFEGUARDING PURITY OF FOODS

Time was in Ohio when it was a gamble to buy store food, declares O. J. Bailey, chief of the Foods and Dairies Division of the Department of Agriculture. It was said in those days that it was hard for a man to succeed in business and be strictly honest.

Our milk was skimmed and preserved with formaldehyde. Our extracts were artificially flavored and colored and called triple strength. Our pickles were colored with copper salts and preserved with salicylic acid. Our pure maple syrup was mostly cane with a little maple. Our spices were ground pepper shells with some pepper. Our catsup was coal-tar dyes, pumpkins and poor quality of tomatoes. Our jams, preserves and jellies were a mixture of gelatine, dyes, millet seed and artificial flavors, and so on through the whole list of foods sold over the counter.

In the meantime laws have been passed in nation and state, that have resulted in purer more wholesome food-stuffs that man be found in any other country on earth, declares Mr. Bailey. Law alone is not sufficient, however. Enforcement is a big factor, and to Mr. Bailey's division, with its corps of inspectors who travel around over the state keeping tab on law evasions, covering dairy operations, bottling works, canneries, ice cream plants, bakeries, narcotic handling and weights and measures falls the responsibilities of keeping Ohio's tables safe.

COW TEST REQUIREMENTS

A. J. DeFosset, U. S. Inspector in charge of Ohio, and Dr. C. McCandless, state veterinarian, announce that they are ready to visit any county to explain what is necessary in order to make a county an accredited one. Producers cannot ship milk into Cincinnati and other large cities after Jan. 1, if not in accredited territory.

The expense of testing the cows is paid jointly by the federal government, state and county.

It is understood that the testing can be started at once if it is desired by the owners of cows. To make the test it must be requested by 51 per cent of the owners of cows who must own at least 75 per cent of the cows in the county.

Any cow found to have bovine tuberculosis will be killed. The cows will be appraised at their actual market value. The owner will be paid by the state and federal governments each paying one-third. Where tuberculosis cattle are found they are removed for slaughter and the premises cleaned and disinfected.

NATIONAL MARKETING AGENCY

A dispatch from Washington should be of interest to Ohio growers even though few make use of such an organization, in the opinion of Chief J. W. Wald of the State Bureau of Markets. The dispatch to which he calls attention says:

Formation of a national marketing agency for fruits and vegetables is to be undertaken by the Federal Farm Board, according to an announcement from headquarters here. It will take the form of a commodity corporation uniting fruit and vegetable co-operatives, it is stated. Foundation for the agency is being laid by means of surveys under the direction of Charles C. Teague, a member of the Board.

So for negotiations looking toward the establishment of a national fruit and vegetable commodity association have consisted only in discussions in person and through correspondence of Mr. Teague and Charles S. Wilson, both members of the Board, with those interested in growing and selling these commodities.

The Board will call a conference of representatives of fruit and vegetable growers for the consideration of such a marketing association as soon as Mr. Teague and

Mr. Wilson have obtained sufficient preliminary material to warrant such action, it is announced.

FAIR MANAGERS' MEETING

Jan. 16-17 have been selected as the dates for the meeting of the Ohio Fair Manager's convention to be held at the Deshler-Wallick hotel, Columbus. Wednesday's evening program will be devoted entirely to racing. Thursday's sessions will be devoted to group meetings.

THE BEST WAY

While it is not absolutely necessary that a hunter carry in his pocket a written permit for hunting from the land owner it is a good idea to have it ready to show the warden, along with the hunting license which must be produced when requested, according to law, says Conservation Commissioner J. W. Thompson.

No one under the age of 16 is allowed to hunt unless accompanied by parents or other adult person; the limit is five rabbits in one day and no Sunday hunting; the open season is from Nov. 15th to Jan. 1st. Sales are allowed during the open season.

CONSERVATION NOTES

WARNING ISSUE

The Board of Game Commissioners of Pennsylvania has sent an official communication to the Ohio Conservation Division, marked important. The letter says in part:

This office has been in receipt of numerous newspaper clippings which state in rather large headlines that hunters will be permitted to kill both bucks and does this year. This statement is seriously in error and should be corrected at once else it will cause no end of trouble for the sportsmen and the Game Commission.

Under the law this year only male deer having two or more points to the antler may be legally taken, the season extending from Dec. 1st to 15th, inclusive. We hope that you will stress the correct season in your newspapers as soon as possible.

TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Carl L. Van Voorhis, Assistant Commissioner, and J. W. Stuber of the educational bureau of the Conservation Division will attend the American Game Conference to be held in New York City, Dec. 2nd, and 3rd, a great annual gathering of game officials and others in America who are concerned in the problems confronting conservationists of wild life.

A committee has been at work for months to formulate a national wild life policy which committee is expected to report at the next conference and to outline a plan on which all game administrative and management efforts may be based. The committee is made up of representatives from every part of the country, including in its number scientists, game officials and sportsmen. The report of this committee will be subject to full discussion and such alteration and revision as the conference may decide upon. The American public is fully aroused to the importance of placing its wild life resources on a permanent and continuing basis and is seeking a definite plan or policy for this purpose.

The American Game Conference is recognized as the one great clearing house for all such problems. It is an institution established under the auspices of the American Game Protective Association, though the association does not seek to control its deliberations or its findings. It is a free and open forum for all who may desire to attend. The next conference will be the 16th of the series.

A PATRIOTIC DUTY

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes in an address before a sportsmen's convention, placed conservation on a platform of patriotism. He declared: "The Conservation movement in the United States today constitutes this country's demonstration of pure idealism—of unselfish patriotism. Those who adhere to it solely for the love of out-of-doors, who comprehend their duty only in terms of planting a tree, purifying a stream, protecting a bird's nest, or otherwise making the out-of-doors a little cleaner, a little more beautiful, and a little more alive with the pulse of nature, have justification enough for their work and reward enough in their accomplishments."

On economic grounds alone we may call upon the self-interest of our people and justify all the time and the energy that is expended in a conservative movement."

DEER IN OHIO

Conservation Commissioner J. W. Thompson is enthusiastic in his conviction that Southern Ohio can be brought back to the ranks of deer hunting states. He points out that the extensive forest areas in Scioto and bordering counties are ideal natural habitat for deer and other game. He hopes that within a few years a short annual open season on bucks will be practical.

On a recent visit to Roosevelt Preserve Mr. Thompson reports that he saw twenty deer in the woods along the drives. The natural increase this season of deer in the preserve and surrounding forests is thought by conservation officials to have been larger than for several years. Illegal hunting has also been more strictly controlled, it is claimed.

PUBLIC PARKS

In the past 18 months, 15 states have set aside thousands of acres of new park domain, including winding streams, deep woods, mountains, and so on.

Oregon, perhaps, leads the way with 19 new areas varying from mere small picnic grounds along a highway to a 1,663-acre tract on the Oregon trail.

Indiana is restoring a pioneer village in its Spring Mill State Park. The old houses will be inhabited and the crafts of more than a century ago will be carried on there regularly.

California has established three new parks and enlarged two others, all five containing stands of giant redwood trees.

Texas has a new park which is a great ranch. It will be fenced and stocked with big game.

Arkansas, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Iowa, Missouri and New Jersey have all improved their park systems in one way or another.

This is a splendid movement. Preserving natural beauties and great playgrounds for citizens' use and enjoyment is an important part of a government's work. The federal government has done well with the national parks. The states it appears, are waking up to their opportunities and responsibilities within their own borders. The cities should do likewise.

CANADIAN LIQUOR

Canadian authorities are now interfering with liquor trade to the United States. They started by raiding export docks on the Detroit river front, seizing a large quantity of whisky. So smuggling thereabouts is made harder.

The motive, however, isn't exactly what American prohibitionists would like to have it. Officially the Canadian government hasn't any objection to Canadians shipping liquor into this country. It holds that the manufacture and exportation of liquor is lawful in Canada, and it is none of the government's business where the liquor goes after it leaves the country.

Its concern is that none of the whisky on those docks, brought there ostensibly for export, is "short-circuited" back to Canada, to be bootlegged there. Ontario and other provinces have a government monopoly of the liquor industry, and want no competition. There is also a Canadian law forbidding the export of liquor by airplane, and some of the international smugglers have been breaking that law.

It would be better for international relations if Canada and Uncle Sam could come to some better understanding about this booze question. It is a source of irritation along the border, with the constant danger of unfriendly acts on one side or the other.

Yes, the world moves. A New York woman whose baby was kidnapped printed its modified milk formula in the papers, for the captor's information. And so advanced and refined has the art of kidnapping become that the kidnapper very likely was glad to get the formula.

LIFE'S UNSOLVED PROBLEMS

"The Masked Hostess"

by BLAIR STEVENSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

An old abandoned Long Island estate, "The Firs," is the only inheritance Nathalie Van Slaick finds has been left by her once wealthy sportsman father, "Happy Jack" Van Slaick. Repulsed by her rich aunt, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, Nathalie, in desperation, catches a check knowing she has no funds in the bank. With no other resources, Nathalie agrees to act as hostess to a rich South American, Capt. Ramon Stefano, who has taken over "The Firs" supposedly to entertain his wealthy friends. She does this on one condition, that she is to remain masked and her identity to remain a secret. John Sloan, young lawyer, assigned to care for Nathalie's affairs, has fallen in love with Nathalie. Without her knowledge, Sloan has made good the false check. He warns her of this strange venture she is about to embark upon, fearing her romantic nature will force her to capitulate to Stefano's charm and the spirit of adventure attending her unusual position. Neither of them knows that Stefano is without funds and is being financed by Ferris, a New York ex-policeman, who wishes to locate Nathalie and obtain possession of "The Firs," knowing that a new state road will enhance its value. "Long Island's wealthiest society people attend the opening of "The Firs" and are intrigued by the Masked Hostess, who is disguised as a black-haired senorita. Nathalie is delighted when none of her friends recognize her. Nathalie, fascinated by the handsome Stefano, finds herself in his arms, but quickly eludes him as his lips reach for hers. Next day, receiving an advance payment of $1,000, Nathalie goes to Brookville to the bank. She meets John Sloan. In Southampton, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, reading a society paper, learns of Stefano's adventure. In New York, Ferris, mysterious ex-policeman, likewise is irritated when he reads of Stefano's intriguing Masked Hostess. Meeting Stefano, Ferris questions him about the Masked Hostess. Stefano is warned to look out for Nathalie. At a masked party at "The Firs" he learns that Mrs. Pemberton Swayne is present.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXIII.

MERCIFULLY for Sylvia Swayne and Monty Delaine, Mrs. Pemberton Swayne had not seen her daughter's sudden capitulation to John Barleycorn.

She was busy "checking up," as Monty said she would be. When Stefano saw her when he came indoors again she was talking to Nathalie and Nathalie was answering in brief sentences. What was visible of Nathalie's face below her mask was expressionless.

A harlequin came up to Nathalie and she danced away with him. Mrs. Swayne, seeing Stefano, smiled in his direction and he went over to her.

"You are a genius, Captain Stefano," she said. "Your party is adorable."

In a sense she meant this. As the party was entirely of her creating it was of course adorable. As to his genius, she was prepared to concede that in him, because, coming to the house in the conviction that the masked hostess, who received with him in it, might be some high born South American whom he would acknowledge as his affianced some night after she had laid aside her mask, she had become convinced after talking to Nathalie that Nathalie was not a person of sort and condition.

She was not in on the secret of Stefano's reduced financial state.

So since she was not in the secret either of her own daughter's secret engagement to land poor Monty Delaine, she was more than ready to be gracious to Stefano and reinstate him in her mind as a potential son-in-law vastly worth while.

She asked him if he was not going to dance with her. "Pining to," he declared as he put his arm about her. For a woman on the brink of fifty she danced exceptionally well. He acknowledged this to himself as she swayed in his arms to the band's eerie rhythm.

"Y'know," he said, coming to a point that was in his mind direct. He wanted to know where her niece was. "Y'know you've went and gone all done it, what? fetehin' me out here like this. What I mean—I know you, dear lady. Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, of course."

"I might have known you'd know. You always were diabolically clever. Simply a genius. But you precious man, how did you know?"

"Nothing simpler," he answered, and smiled down at her. "Just that you can dance. Precious few can, you know."

"What I mean is bodily coordination flawless. Eye, hand and limb all together like one. 'Mem'ber one night I bored you a bit bringing the topic up at dinner. Charming niece of yours was there at the time and I insisted she had it. I ran in your blood, as she know she had 'out over' the talk to you about her. Take me somewhere where we can."

"But first," she said as they sat down, "I must compliment you on your extraordinary intelligence. You're an extraordinary man, you are unquestionably." She indicated Nathalie, who passed at the moment in the arms of her harlequin. "For that reason, if for no other."

"You mean—y'know I don't quite—"

"Oh, yes, you do. She's marvelous. What I'm trying to say and you insist on making it difficult for me, because your blood is Spanish and you're chivalrous."

Mrs. Swayne spoke in French: "What you're trying to prevent my saying is that it would have been unkind of you to have brought a girl of any social stamp in here to help you pique society. And it would have been unkind. If, for instance, you had induced some one who was actually a lady to put her idle need of money above her pride of station and help you with this delightful Latin jest of yours. But instead of that you were kind. Where did you get her really—through some agency?"

"No indeed," and Stefano assumed a mysterious look. "She just dropped from the stars. Wasn't it extraordinary?" He did not resent anything Stefano said or implied. He believed, now that he saw Nathalie with her harlequin—and instantly, by her slender feet, and her supple grace of body, and her turn of neck, and the poise of her lovely head, he knew her for who she was.

masked party, that she had done it out of unbridled feminine curiosity and was talking to trip him into an identification of his hostess by compelling him to defend her.

He did not know that Nathalie, who had recognized her aunt by her voice, had been trembling with the fright she felt.

And she had deceived Mrs. Swayne completely. Else Mrs. Swayne, in whom pride of family ran high, could never have spoken her next few words, still in French, in her voice still low in pitch.

"From the stars, of course—how kind and chivalrous. But nevertheless one knows, you nice person. For since one does not speak Spanish, and meeting no success in English, one spoke to her in French, and when she replied in atrocious French one knew."

Nathalie's atrocious French—she spoke French beautifully—had been sheer inspiration and her salvation.

Mrs. Swayne dropped the topic of the masked hostess.

"And oh, yes, about my dear niece. Poor child, since her father's tragic death she has grown strange and sensitive and flew at me when she was at Southampton and then went away without telling me where. I have tried to find her but have no trace of her. She is hiding somewhere with

DR. COPELAND SAYS—VIGOR CANNOT LIVE WHERE DARKNESS IS

"Give Your Son the Best the Sun Can Give" Quotes Dr. Copeland in Telling Why and How Old Sol Frustrates Disease and Gloom.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IN AN English newspaper the other day I saw a number of interesting advertisements. One of them had a conventional picture of the sun with its radiating stream of light. But it was the heading that caught my eye:

"Give your son the best the sun can give!"

One of the encouraging signs of the times is the increasing interest in sunlight. No longer does anybody doubt its healing qualities. Oppenheim makes one of his characters say, "A drop of good rain water does so good to the skin and body—freshens things up, like. Too much dry sunshine breeds disease, they do say."

In reply, another character, the local butcher, agreed, "Sun makes dust and all he doctor folks say that when there's dust there do be germs."

Well, I shall not dispute the fact that dust is dangerous. Indeed, it has a double danger. First, the particles of matter irritate and actually wound the tissues of nose, throat and lungs. In this manner they prepare openings for the direct entrance of germs into the body.

Second, the bits of substance act as vehicles, so to speak, to carry the germs through the air. Infection and disease are scattered with the dust.

But it is not true that sunshine breeds disease. On the contrary, it does much to control and what is more important to prevent disease. The best the sun can give is the priceless gift of health.

The mother who takes into the night her baby son, and baby daughter, too, is laying the foundation of health growth is promoted the circulation benefited and the general welfare advanced by daily exposure to the rays of the sun.

Near the Gap of Dunloe, in Ireland is the "Black Valley." The region is so named because it is surrounded by high mountains that for four months of the year shut out the sunshine from its narrow confines.

This is bad for the unfortunate who dwell there. In all regions of the earth where there are seasons of darkness, the health and vigor decline. The lack of sunshine is like the lack of food. It may not produce death, perhaps, but it results in positive damage to the body.

Kind Nature has provided many blessings. One of the greatest of them is sunshine. But we must do our part. We must reach out and seize upon these proffered gifts. Certainly that is good advice to every parent. "Give your son the best the sun can give." When the children are too young to know what is good for them, we must see that these gifts are rightly bestowed. We can make the youngsters in the open air and have them get the blessings the sun can give.

THEATRES

AT THE MET

The staccato of rapid fire machine guns and the roar of airplanes caused by the Columbia company on location in San Diego during the production of the all-talking aviation film, "Flight" now playing at the Met theatre, gave the San Diegans a good scare until they found out what it was all about. The sounds, indicative of battle in progress, led them to believe that war had again broken out across the border in Mexico.

Upon investigation it was discovered that the bloody battle was being fought for "Flight," and that the mangled, bleeding mass of humanity which carried on the battle was a group of actors, none of whom were actually being shot despite the fact that the blood was streaming down their faces. So complete in every detail was the skirmish that the Marine officers, who had come down from the army base to watch the battle, were startled by the remarkable accuracy of the manoeuvres.

The principals in this aviation attraction are Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Ralph Graves. Frank R. Capra directed.

AT THE GRAND

Paul Brown and his clever Rotary Players feature the Grand theaters program Thursday in "Lea Rivers." This is one of the features of the Rotary Players long list of stage plays and has won marked approval wherever it has been shown.

The regular picture program is also scheduled for Thursday.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Conrad Nagel, who recently has scored sensational hits in talking pictures, and Leila Hyams, who last appeared in "Wonder of Women," are the romantic center of "The Thirteenth Chair," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking filmization of the celebrated stage play now showing at the Cliftona theatre. Tod Browning directed the new thriller, a mystery drama of Calcutta, with Margaret Wycherly in the role she created on the stage, that of the strange spirit medium.

The picture combines a romance with a series of uncanny scenes revealing the hoaxes practiced by mediums and spiritualists. Fantastic sound effects heighten the creepy sensations aroused by table tapping and other ghostly occurrences which reach a startling climax in a murder.

India is used as atmosphere for the mystery drama and eerie shadows and camera angles give an uncanny and vivid feeling to the picture. One of the dramatic scenes takes place in the home of the British governor in Calcutta at midnight when a knife thrown into the ceiling is revealed by the moonlight shining into the room.

DIRECTOR SATISFIED WITH CAST IN "SEE YOU LATER"

Here 'tis' as Little Jack Little would say, the show "See You Later" of course, the three act musical comedy to be given by the American Legion Auxiliary on Friday evening, Dec. 6, at Memorial Hall.

The show itself is a good one, it was run by original cast in big time for two years and accepted by the public everywhere it was shown. Now it's condensed, to amateur size and what an amateur show it is when you have a cast such as Circleville can produce.

This show has been staged in 16 Ohio towns by Jimmie Mason in the last five months, but never has he had a more balanced all-around cast than here in our own town. This from Jimmie himself.

There are seven choruses in the show, elegantly costumed.

Then there's the mixed chorus, and a real one, with four young men and four young ladies.

Now for the cast, ten characters with Ruth Holman and Howard White leading the bill, and what a combination they make. A really big-time actor and actress in a small town show is the best way we can name them.

Then come "Cuz" Dumm and "Shanty" Kirwin and Miss Margie Hunsicker. The comedy of the show is wrapped around them and do they hand out laughs? Carl Wallace is a minstrel character that would carry a black face role in any man's show.

Now for Lawrence Mack. It's just too bad he isn't a millionaire as the part in the show casts him. Now for the "Bally" Englishman always a hard character to fill but it's carried "Jolly" well by Dick Robinson.

And here's where Speedy, played by Evan Phillips, shines. He sure is a smart aleck office boy and Evelyn Fohl as a gum-chewing, cosmetic tossing, stenographer she is a world beater.

With a cast like that why shouldn't it be a real show?

The last and yet first in all shows is the Kiddies. Twelve of them about 5 or 6 years old are in a chorus of their own.

WORTH WEIGHT IN PUREST GOLD

Hoyt's Compound is a God Send. Declares Mrs. W. H. Emerich of Waverly, Ohio: Now Happy With New Health.

"Hoyt's Compound proved to be worth its weight in purest gold and I am glad to endorse it publicly," declared Mrs. Lena Emerich, who resides two miles north of Waverly, Ohio, and 16 miles southwest of Chillicothe.

"For more than 10 years I have been troubled with constipation and stomach trouble and I was compelled to take the strongest of bowel physics," continued Mrs. Emerich. "Then too my kidneys and bladder were a source of misery and suffering and I was troubled continually with sharp pains across my back at which times I would fall and each time I tried to stoop over I thought that my back would break."

"I tried many different kinds of remedies but none of them gave me any real benefits and since I had been reading about Hoyt's Compound and hearing praise for it on every side I made up my mind to try it. I noticed a change in my health after the first few doses of this medicine and my bowels are perfectly regular and my back is perfectly free. So remarkable has been the action of this new medicine that I can hardly believe it possible so you can readily see that it is no wonder that I am happy to endorse it and tell others about my experience."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Pharmacy and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

WORTH WEIGHT IN PUREST GOLD

Hoyt's Compound is a God Send
Declares Mrs. W. H. Emerich
Of Waverly, Ohio: Now
Happy With New Health.

"Hoyt's Compound proved to be worth its weight in purest gold and I am glad to endorse it publicly," declared Mrs. Lena Emerich, who resides two miles north of Waverly, Ohio, and 16 miles southwest of Chillicothe.

"For more than 10 years I have been troubled with constipation and stomach trouble and I was compelled to take the strongest of bowel physics," continued Mrs. Emerich. "Then too my kidneys and bladder were a source of misery and suffering and I was troubled continually with sharp pains across my back at which times I would fall and each time I tried to stoop over I thought that my back would break.

"I tried many different kinds of remedies but none of them gave me any real benefits and since I had been reading about Hoyt's Compound and hearing praise voice for it on every side I made up my mind to try it. I noticed a change in my health after the first few doses of this famous prescription and my bowels are perfectly regular and my food digests properly. So remarkable has been the action of this new medicine that I can hardly believe it possible so you can readily see that it is no wonder that I am happy to endorse it and tell others about my experience."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Pharmacy and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

KINGSTON

The Philathea Sunday School Class Thanksgiving dinner was a splendid success in every way. The sum of $48.50 was realized from the dinner. The tables were beautifully decorated with crystal candlesticks and bud vases with pink rose buds. Favors of mints arranged into roses of yellow and green, the color scheme being those colors. Mesdames Mary Lewley and Maude Elder of the ways and means committee and Mrs. Norman Pyle, the president of the class, and Mrs. Julia Baldozer, the teacher of the class and every member of the class are all to be given credit for this enjoyable affair. Whole families and members of the class and their guests were entertained in this delightful manner. The Snyder Trio, Francis with the saxophone, George with the trombone and Isobel at the piano furnished the splendid musical program. About 80 were served with the delicious chicken dinner.

The Thanksgiving service at the Methodist church was well attended. The program was as follows: Reading of the President's Proclamation, Rev. Dwight L. Chapin; hymn "Come Ye Thankful People" by the choir; scripture reading, the Lord's Prayer, solo by Mr. F. M. Snyder; address by Rev. Floyd S. Washington Grocers Invades Athletic Club

BASKETEERS TO TRY FOR SECOND WIN

Preliminary Battle Between Flying Clouds and Woodmen Also Listed

The Circleville Athletic Club basketball team will endeavor to annex its second victory of the season Thursday evening when the Washington Court House and Atlantic & Pacific Grocers invade the local ballroom for a hardwood scramble.

The C. A. C. experienced little trouble in their contest with the Newark Y. M. C. A. Thanksgiving evening when they rolled up a score of 50 to 20. Every member of the local squad covered himself with glory in this fray with points divided among all eight of the men who took part.

The strength of the Grocers from Washington is decidedly unknown but since Washington teams have always been considered tough it is expected that this team will show plenty of class before the evening has gone very far.

CUT PRICES

A feature of the court games, there are two of them, for this evening is that the price of admission has been cut to 25c for adults and 15c for children.

This price of admission should be prohibitive to no one and with two fast court games scheduled fans are sure to get their money's worth.

The preliminary game scheduled for this evening will see the Grant Flying Clouds tangle with the Modern Woodman club. These two teams have not met this season but are expected to be about the same strength.

The Clouds may be slightly crippled for the contest with Willis Liston, regular center, unable to play on account of automobile injuries.

LINEUP DOUBTFUL

Coach Joe Lynch of the Club team has not made his starting lineup known for with Steele, Gordon and White ready to play forwards, Wallace and Parks set for center and Merriman, Robinson and Courtright able to take care of the guard jobs any five of these eight may be called upon.

There is no question in anyone's mind that Circleville can boast of probably the strongest amateur basketball team in this section of Ohio and should be given all the support they can possibly get.

The first game starts at 7:30.

CLOUDS LOSE AT TARLTON

Slippery Floor Has Much To Do With Saltcreeks Lopsided 39-13 Victory

Slipping, sliding, diving, dancing and skating, the Grant Flying Cloud basketball team went down to a lopsided 39 to 13 defeat at the hands of the Saltcreek-twp team at Tarlton Wednesday.

Playing on a court that has been used for dancing, and which was covered with corn meal, the Clouds started the contest by trying to emulate Pavlova or a diving swan and before they knew what was coming off found themselves on the tail end of a big score which they never overcame.

Saltcreek played a good game of basketball, as the score would indicate, and with their ability to stand up on the floor held a distinct advantage over the Grantmen.

Barnes, List, Glitt, Maloney and Wefler made up the Grant lineup.

KREEGER—CENTER

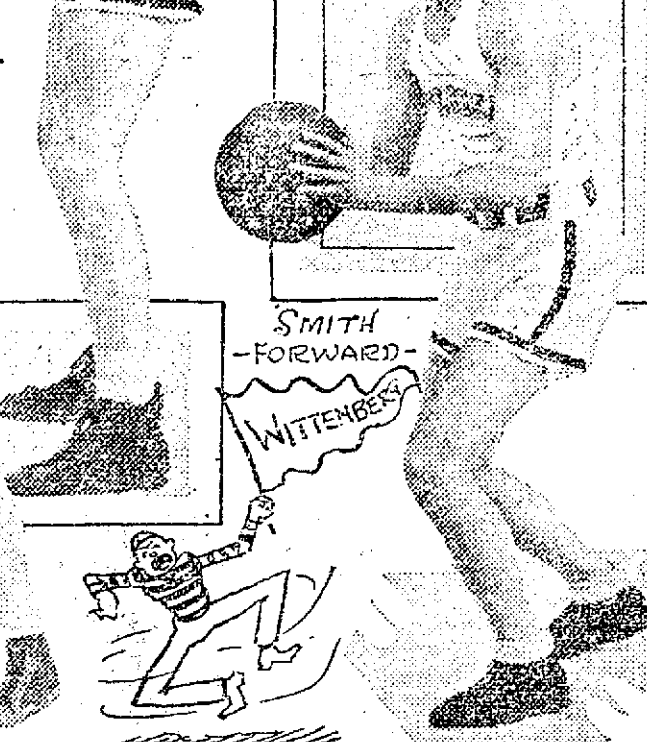

CAPTAIN MAURER—FORWARD

HACKENBERG—CENTER

REARICK—GUARD

SMITH—FORWARD

GRIEST—GUARD

Wittenberg's basketball team this year is a five without a star.

Every man has to grub to get what he gets.

Maybe Wittenberg will win more games with just this combination in 1930.

Coach Joe Hermann, who will teach basketball to the Cardinal and Cream lads here for his second year, will have many veterans, but not one is a burnished dazler.

At center, alternately, are Ed Kreeger of Toledo, and Herb

Hackenberg of Cambridge. Guards, include Cecil Griest of Lawrenceville and Rupp Rearick of Dover and Alex Kish of Bucyrus. Among veteran forwards are Captain Howard Maurer of Dover, and Rolly Smith of Springfield. Maurer is a three-sports, letterman, and a real fighter from Tuscarawas-co. So is "Indian" Kish. Wittenberg opens at home against Georgetown (Ky.) college on Dec. 20, plays Ashland, Dec. 27 there, and Carroll at Cleveland, Dec. 28. Here is the rest of the schedule:

CLOUDS LOSE AT TARLTON

Slippery Floor Has Much To Do With Saltcreeks Lopsided 39-13 Victory

Slipping, sliding, diving, dancing and skating, the Grant Flying Cloud basketball team went down to a lopsided 39 to 13 defeat at the hands of the Saltcreek-twp team at Tarlton Wednesday.

Playing on a court that has been used for dancing, and which was covered with corn meal, the Clouds started the contest by trying to emulate Paviowa or a diving swan and before they knew what was coming off found themselves on the tail end of a big score which they never overcame.

Saltcreek played a good game of basketball, as the score would indicate, and with their ability to stand up on the floor held a distinct advantage over the Grantmen.

Barnes, List, Glitt, Maloney and Wefler made up the Grant lineup.

LUTHERAN TEAM WITHOUT STAR

CAPTAIN MAURER-FORWARD

HACKENBERG-CENTER

REARICK-GUARD

GRIEST-GUARD

SMITH-FORWARD

Wittenberg's basketball team this year is a five without a star.

Every man has to grub to get what he gets.

Maybe Wittenberg will win more games with just this combination in 1930.

Coach Joe Hermann, who will teach basketball to the Cardinal and Cream lads here for his second year, will have many veterans, but not one is a burnished dazler.

At center, alternately, are Ed Kreeger of Toledo, and Herb

Hackenberg of Cambridge. Guards include Cecil Grist of Lawrenceville and Bupp Rearick of Dover and Alex Kish of Bucyrus. Among veteran forwards are Captain Howard Maurer of Dover, and Rolly Smith of Springfield. Maurer is a three-sports letterman, and a real fighter from Tuscarawas-co. So is "Indian" Kish. Wittenberg opens at home against Georgetown (Ky.) college on Dec. 20, plays Ashland, Dec. 27 there, and Carroll at Cleveland, Dec. 28.

Here is the rest of the schedule:

Transylvania (Ky.) here, Jan. 3; Dayton here, Jan. 6; Miami at Oxford, Jan. 11; Heidelberg here, Jan. 14; Ohio here, Jan. 17; Cincinnati there, Jan. 21; Wesleyan here, Jan. 25; Miami here, Feb. 1; Denison there, Feb. 5; Dayton there, Feb. 8; St. Xavier there, Feb. 12; Cincy here, Feb. 15; Ohio here, Feb. 19; Wesleyan there, Feb. 22; Denison here, Feb. 28.

ATHENS, Dec. 5.—With the Buckeye conference football title safely tucked away, Ohio University Bobcats started practice this week for a vigorous 21 game basketball schedule which will start Dec. 11 when the Ohioans meet Bliss College at Athens.

Coach Butch Grover entertains hopes of a successful season on the hardwood, with six lettermen returning and with a wealth of promising sophomore material on hand.

One of the high spots of the schedule is a tour of the east during the holiday season. The Bobcats will meet Syracuse, Buffalo, and Elmira, N. Y. during the trip. The Bobcats will also clash with Ohio State at Columbus on Dec. 14.

The schedule as released is: Dec. 11, Bliss; Dec. 14, at Ohio State; Dec. 16, at Buffalo; Dec. 17, at Syracuse; Dec. 18, at Elmira; Dec. 19, at Bliss; Jan. 11, Ohio Wesleyan; Jan. 14, Miami; Jan. 17, at Wittenberg; Jan. 22, Muskingum; Jan. 25, at Marietta; Jan. 26, at Cincinnati; Jan. 29, at Denison; Feb. 1, West Liberty; Feb. 8, at Miami; Feb. 11, at Ohio Wesleyan; Feb. 13, at Muskingum; Feb. 15, Denison; Feb. 19, Wittenberg; Feb. 22, Cincinnati; Feb. 25, Marietta.

Captain John Brammer, who led his football team to its first championship, will attempt to repeat in basketball. Brammer plays center, but will meet hard competition from sophomore candidates. Other lettermen returning are Ray Hart, guard; Eugene Trace, guard; Nolan Swackhammer, forward; and Charles Koterba, forward. Jerry Warshawer, a guard, will also be available.

THINGS THAT NEVER HAPPEN

OBITUARY

Eliza Jane Beougher, daughter of John W. and Anna Ball was born July 7, 1856, at New Straitsville, Ohio, and departed this life at 8:30 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 1, 1929, aged 73 years four months and 24 days.
She was united in marriage to William Allen Beougher Feb. 22, 1882, at Logan, Ohio, and a few months later took up her residence in the home in Washington-twp where she spent the years of her married life.
To this union three children were born: Cora Belle and Pearl Edward, at home, and Ethel May, wife of Earl F. Klingensmith of 854 Oakwood-ave., Columbus, O., who, with her husband and one grandson, Robert Allen Klingensmith, survive. One grandson, Richard Lee Klingensmith preceded her in death.
Mrs. Beougher, in the early days of her married life, united with the Pontious United Brethren church and remained a faithful member until her death. She was of a quiet, unassuming nature, a loving wife and a devoted mother. Her greatest happiness was found in her home and her supreme joy was in gathering her family around her and administering to their various wants and needs. One of the family has said: "Mother was always here, always at home." "Yes, mother will be sorely missed, but the fragrance of her life will always be here, in the home, though our Loving Father has seen fit to call her to that House of Many Mansions, that House not made with hands where she sweetly rests and awaits the coming of her loved ones."

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement.
W. A. Beougher And Family.

OBITUARY

Eliza Jane Bougher, daughter of John W. and Jane Ball was born July 7, 1856, at New Straitsville, Ohio, and departed this life at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 1, 1929, aged 73 years four months and 24 days.

She was united in marriage to William Allen Bougher Feb. 22, 1882, at Logan, Ohio, and a few months later took up her residence in the home in Washington-twp where she spent the years of her married life.

To this union three children were born: Cora Belle and Pearl Edward, at home, and Ethel May, wife of Earl P. Klingensmith of 854 Oakwood-ave., Columbus, O., who, with her husband and one grandson, Robert Allen Klingensmith, survive. One grandson, Richard Lee Klingensmith preceded her in death.

Mrs. Bougher, in the early days of her married life, united with the Pontious United Brethren church and remained a faithful member until her death. She was of a quiet, unassuming nature, a loving wife and a devoted mother. Her greatest happiness was found in her home and her supreme joy was in gathering her family around her and administering to their various wants and needs. One of the family has said: "Mother was always here, always at home." "Yes, mother will be sorely missed, but the fragrance of her life will always be here, in the home, though our Loving Father has seen fit to call her to that House of Many Mansions, that House not made with hands where she sweetly rests and awaits the coming of her loved ones."

CARD OF THANKS
We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy during our recent bereavement.

W. A. Bougher And Family.

Royal Wedding in St. Paul's Rome Will Unite Ruling Houses

The wedding of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium will be held in a few weeks and is of great interest to the world. Upper right—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, who recently escaped an assassin's bullet in Brussels during the festivities which marked his engagement to Princess Marie Jose. Center—the reception room of the Quirinal Palace, where the public reception will be held following the wedding, in the Church of St. Paul. Lower—Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, the future Queen of Italy.

SCENES reminiscent of the splendor of European royalty of pre-war days will mark the forthcoming wedding of the Crown Prince Humbert of Italy and Marie Jose, daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians. It is a marriage that will unite two of the few remaining ruling houses left in Europe since the debacle of the war, and so a notable gathering of kings and ex-kings will assemble in the Quirinal in Rome, the residence of the Italian rulers and the future home of the Belgian Princess.

All the world has been interested in the courtship of this pleasant and democratic royal couple, and negotiations between the representatives of the two countries were carried on for some time until their efforts were crowned with success. For all this, it is said, that as far as the two young people are concerned, that it is a love match rather than a marriage of convenience, for they share a community of interests and hobbies, both having a liking for outdoor life and athletics.

The young princess knows something of the sad side of life, the war taught her that. And she knows something too of the dangers that beset crowned heads, for she was present when an assassin made an attempt on the life of her future husband at the time their engagement was announced in Brussels. A magnificent trousseau is being prepared for Marie Jose by the leading couturiers of Brussels and Paris. Sports clothes and magnificent evening frocks are a feature of the outfit.

ITALIAN CHURCH AND STATE RESUME FRIENDLY RELATIONS

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 5.—In a colorful and imposing ceremony such as only this tradition-drenched seat of ecclesiasticism can produce, friendly relations between the throne of Italy and the pope of Rome were formally re-established today when King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena drove in state to the Vatican for their long-heralded meeting with Pope Pius XI.

It was the first time since Rome became the capital of the Italian state that an Italian sovereign had set foot inside the Vatican palace. It was the first time in more than six decades that an Italian king had bowed to the temporal sovereignty of the pope.

The historic meeting was made possible by the signing of the Lateran treaties which ended the 60-year old feud between church and state that an Italian sovereign had terminated the pope's voluntary imprisonment within the confines of the Vatican.

A crowd estimated at more than half a million persons, witnessed the state procession from the Quirinal Royal Palace to the Vatican City. Tremendous throngs lined the streets along the route followed by the King and Queen on their epochal journey, and were accorded an ovation almost without parallel in the history of modern Rome.

The Eternal City was en fete for the occasion, and fully cognizant of the history-making import of the visit. The populace greeted the procession with a vociferous enthusiasm heretofore reserved only for the most important appearances of Premier Mussolini.

The triumphant procession from the Quirinal to the Vatican was made in seven royal motor cars, although the original program called for luxurious state coaches, richly ornamented and driven by four horses each, to be used. This plan was abandoned by the wish of King Victor Emmanuel, who desired to avoid over-ostentation as well as to speed up the procession.

ITALIAN CHURCH AND STATE RESUME FRIENDLY RELATIONS

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 5.—In a colorful and imposing ceremony such as only this tradition-drenched seat of ecclesiasticism can produce, friendly relations between the throne of Italy and the popes of Rome were formally re-established today when King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena drove in state to the Vatican for their long-heralded meeting with Pope Pius XI.

It was the first time since Rome became the capital of the Italian state that an Italian sovereign had set foot inside the Vatican palace. It was the first time in more than six decades that an Italian king had bowed to the temporal sovereignty of the pope.

The historic meeting was made possible by the signing of the Lateran treaties which ended the 60-year old feud between church and state that an Italian sovereign had terminated the pope's voluntary imprisonment within the confines of the Vatican.

A crowd estimated at more than half a million persons witnessed the state procession from the Quirinal Royal Palace to the Vatican City. Tremendous throngs lined the streets along the route followed by the King and Queen on their epochal journey, and were accorded an ovation almost without parallel in the history of modern Rome.

The Eternal City was en fete for the occasion, and fully cognizant of the history-making import of the visit. The populace greeted the procession with a vociferous enthusiasm heretofore reserved only for the most important appearances of Premier Mussolini.

The triumphant procession from the Quirinal to the Vatican was made in seven royal motor cars, although the original program called for luxurious state coaches, richly ornamented and driven by four horses each, to be used. This plan was abandoned by the wish of King Victor Emmanuel, who desired to avoid over-ostentation as well as to speed up the procession.

Delight in Posterity

A man looked on his little one as being of better hope; in himself ambition is dead, but it has a resurrection in his son.—Tupper.

Fate Disposes

"A man once belted his gun and windows," said H. H. the sage of Chinatown, "and vowed he would dwell in secluded content. Then came a hurricane that tore off his roof."—Washington Star.
